Bussay Winery

The stunning view from the Bussay Winery tells us a lot why this winery is so special. It is located in a valley near the Mura river. The sediment of Mura (resulting in a mix of gravel, clay, limestone and calcareous soil) and the special, nearly semi-Mediterranean microclimate gives a distinctive power for the plantations, giving them the opportunity to produce unique wines. From age worthy Rieslings to fine, elegant Pinot Noirs represent the refinement and femininity of Bussay Dóri, the wine-maker.

Villa Sandahl

The kings of Riesling in the region of Badacsony. Villa Sandahl is founded by the Swedish Sandahl family, who have fallen in love with Badacsony and the power of Balaton.

They make Rieslings in an Alsace style, full and complex adding the amazing terroir of the volcanic soil (basalt and limestone) that is found in the region. Precise and controlled winemaking with a low temperature fermentation results in fruity, rich, straight acid wines that are a real jolly joker in gastronomy!

St. Donat Winery

This family scale estate is located on the volcanic hills of the north of the Balaton. Their plantations are found in Csopak, Tihany and Káli Basin. All the three terroirs have a specific microclimate and geology. In addition to the different location and the distance from Lake Balaton, the soils of the vineyards are markedly different, which greatly influences the character of the wines. The owner and winemaker, Kovács Tamás is a real genius of showing the differences of terroir. They are very attentive of protecting the environment and to show the true face of this fascinating volcanic area.

The winemaking is low intervention and focuses on fostering the terroir and grape variety characters in the wines.
